

Red Sea October 2013 – MV Infinity North and Brothers

For 2013 we opted for a Northern itinerary as some of our group were getting withdrawal symptoms due to lack of wrecks; however we did include the Brothers to be sure of getting some shark sitings. Our group was 10 in number this time and we sailed on the MV Infinity out of Hurghada on 16th October 2013. The party consisted of Paul Wilson, Tim Dews, Tracy Mock, Ken Blay, Keith Walter, Mick Marchant, Richard Vivian, Derrick Hunt, Glen Hueckel and myself. Glen was from New England USA and a friend of Keiths and this was his first Red Sea Trip and first liveaboard. The itinerary with depths and dive time is shown below but undoubtedly the trip was made for everyone when we had a pod of dolphins turn up the first dives of day 1 and day 2. No Hammerheads this year but we did get some good sitings of threshers on Little Brother. The boat was very good and all the long crossings were made overnight which was good but did reduce the opportunity for many night dives but not an issue I actually passed on at least one. Mostly I took video and will attach some video links in due course.
